

Sušice

San Isidro

Oulx

Gaia

Kőszeg

Erasmus+

This project is funded by the European Union.

Update on migrants issues (Hungary)

The Hungarian prime minister and the government continues the EU-sceptic politics. They're against the quota about immigrants. They want to stop the immigration, because it's dangerous according to them, because the immigrants from Asia and North-Africa won't be able to assimilate, so they means danger for our culture. Nowadays the Hungarian media doesn't make a difference between economic immigrants and refugees. Moreover, they often identify immigrants as terrorists. So now they try to make every necessary arrangements to protect ourselves from a terror attack. Now it's becoming a more and more important question because of the elections in April. Today the biggest "enemy" of the state is György Soros, a Hungarian businessman, one of the most influential people of the world. The media started the publicity campaign against him last September. According to them Soros gives financial support to the opposite parties in Hungary, the EU, and even the UN. We could see him on big posters on the streets, what were about that Soros wants to destroy the fence on the Serbian-Hungarian border, which the Hungarian government built to protect the country from the illegal immigrants, and he also wants to settle over 1 million immigrants to Hungary every year. Despite of all only about 1300 immigrants were settled to Hungary. However, most of them have gone away to Germany. So I think, we can't feel these dangerous effects of the immigrants issue what the Hungarian media is talking about, but these politics against the immigrants made the people frightened and that caused those accidents in the last few months, when the scared people call the police, because they thought that the Arabian tourists are terrorists.